

Thank you for taking time to prepare your floor plan. Refer to the sample below.
 Prepare a drafted floor plan. You can call a design school and have a student prepare this for you.
 Sometimes the City Planning Office will have floor plans that you can order. With your drafted floor plan mark an X outside where you were standing when you took your compass reading. A regular camping compass works fine. Take a reading from the front and the back of the building. Do not take a compass reading inside the building. Draw an arrow next to the X showing me the direction you were facing when you read the compass. Read the degrees on the compass and write the degrees next to the arrow as I have indicated for you below.

Be sure to give me the year the house was built and the address.
 I look forward to helping you determine the energy along with proper remedies for your building!
